

SoSe 15 ring vorlesung

des Exzellenzclusters
»Die Herausbildung normativer Ordnungen«

Theorizing Global Order

“Order” is a central concept in the discipline of International Relations. However, in contrast to other concepts (such as “security”) it is surprisingly undertheorized. In this Lecture Series scholars with different backgrounds and theoretical preferences will offer their take on what it may mean to “theorize global order”.

29.04.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

The Modern International: A Scalar Politics of Divided Subjectivities

Prof. R. B. J. (Rob) Walker, University of Victoria, Canada

13.05.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

The International in Security

Prof. Pinar Bilgin, Bilkent University, Ankara

27.05.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

Diplomacy as Global Governance

Prof. Iver Neumann, London School of Economics and Political Science

10.06.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

Cultural Diversity and International Order

Prof. Chris Reus-Smit, University of Queensland, Australia

24.06.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

Nomadic Political Theory

Prof. Erik Ringmar, Lund University, Sweden

08.07.

2015, 18 h c.t. / HZ 6

The Sociology of International Relations in India: Contested Readings of Global Political Order

Prof. Siddharth Mallavarapu, South Asian University, New Delhi

Campus Westend / Hörsaalzentrum

NORMATIVE ORDERS

Exzellenzcluster an der Goethe-Universität Frankfurt am Main

www.normativeorders.net/ringvorlesungen

GOETHE
UNIVERSITÄT
FRANKFURT AM MAIN

TECHNISCHE
UNIVERSITÄT
DARMSTADT

PRIF
Peace Research
Institute Frankfurt

HSFK
Heidische Stiftung
Friedens- und Konfliktforschung

Max-Planck-Gesellschaft
für ausländische öffentliche Rechte und Völkerrecht

WAXFLANZGESELLSCHAFT
Max-Planck-Institut für europäische Rechtsgeschichte

IFS

FROBENIUS-INSTITUT

POINT SUD