(Central European Time)

The new Research Training Group at the Freie Universität, Humboldt-Universität and Berlin University of the Arts invites interested candidates for doctoral and postdoc positions to its online event. The PhD program takes an interdisciplinary perspective on questions of normativity at the nexus of critique and change. It aims to study the complexity of rule application in the arts, in legal and linguistic practices and in the moral and religious spheres. A call for applications to fill the 14 doctoral and 2 postdoc positions will be released immediately after the kick-off event. A more detailed description of the GRK can be found at:
